SELF-CARE ISN'T SELFISH

"At last, I feel like myself again"

This is a true story about Joanne, an executive on the peak of her career, who made an honest decision about her health just at the right time. This story is about her or might be about you?

Troubling but true: Joanne is at her annual health checkup. She is in his mid-fifties, a C-level leader in a mid-sized company who plans her life around work. When her primary care physician took her blood pressure, recorded her weight, listened to her heart and lungs, she was glad to hear she was in decent health. Yet she was not asked about her diet and exercise habits (inconsistent), stress level (off the charts), relaxation techniques (non-existent).

When she mentioned that she was having trouble sleeping and had adverse reactions for specific foods, the doctor handed her a prescription for some pills. All in that 8 minutes in total.

She left feeling frustrated. Her doctor was right: she was healthy in the sense that she wasn't suffering from any chronic diseases. But she often felt tired, unmotivated, foggy. She knew she wanted to feel better, she just didn't know how.

Joanne's experience is not uncommon. These kinds of lifestyle changes need time and dedication. And it's hard for a doctor to help patients change their daily habits when they see patients for only 10 minutes every three or six months.

These changes also have a domino effect on different areas of our lives, so it's best to look at them holistically.

We often leave a doctor's appointment scratching our heads, wondering how we're going to sleep better, lose weight, exercise more, eat cleaner given our busy schedules, finances, and sometimes the lack of supporters.

Do you need a personal Health Coach?

A Health Coach is a supportive mentor who helps you feel at your best through individualized food and lifestyle changes that meet your unique needs and health goals. While the average visit to the doctor lasts around 8 minutes, the average health coaching session is 50 minutes twice a month – an in-depth conversation between your Health Coach and you.

It's important to understand that the aim of this coaching is healthy living - it is not against the medical system which you should rely on once you suffer from a health problem.

One person's food is another person's poison

Health coaching isn't about just one diet or one way of living. Instead it focuses on bio-individuality – embracing that we're all different and have unique dietary, lifestyle, emotional, and physical needs. When you work with a Health Coach, you will learn how to fuel your body and become the healthiest, happiest version of yourself.

Maybe you've already noticed that your food preferences are different from some of your friends or family members. Maybe you're most energized when you have a small breakfast and a hearty lunch with a fresh salad. Maybe you've tried going vegan but noticed that your energy level was lower than before. Remember, your body is the only one you've got, so it's crucial to consume the proper nutrients that get you going!

Avocado, green juice, green salads... do they really work?

Have you ever tried a diet but you reached a plateau after a while? Did you feel that you could not move towards your goal? Think about yourself as a highly complex creature, and set aside diets and popular trends, follow your instinct and see what works best for you.

Health happens beyond the plate: there are areas of your life that impact your health just as much as the food you eat – your relationships, career, spirituality, and physical activity.

Who holds you accountable for your goals?

Most of us know that it's healthier to order a salad than a portion of fries. But there's a big difference between knowing what you should do and actually doing it. Your Health Coach helps you stay motivated and accountable. They will give you tips to manage your stress better, tactics for a better quality sleep, feasible changes in your diet adjusted to your busy schedule, and sustainable changes in your fitness activity.

"I realize now that leaning on someone to help you with your health isn't about being weak — it's about being brave. I finally have achieved a quality of life that I love. At last, I feel like myself again." says Joanne after working with a Health Coach.

The Cigar as Lifestyle

When thinking of cigars, what comes to mind are not only beautiful places, highly rated nowadays as holiday resorts, but also famous personalities such as Churchill, Oscar Wilde, Thomas Mann, Hitchcock, Hemingway and many more.

Mr Schneebeli, you proposed right at the beginning to be on first name terms and introduced yourself as Dani. Are cigar smokers like pals among each other just like sailors or collectors in the sports car scene?

This is one of the advantages of cigar smokers among each other.

It matters less what you are than who you are. Banker, worker, CEO in any industry are all on the same level and enjoy some time out. On the contrary, an exaggerated pomposity is less well received. Someone who enjoys a limited edition or drinks some special Cognac, however, is likely to be treated positively. In the spirit of: good choice – enjoy it. I am known as Dani and this is just right for me.

Is then the cigar smoking scene no business scene?

When you meet each other or sit down together for a casual business talk with a cigar, then it is. Smoking a good cigar has helped many problems disappear. The laid-back atmosphere surely contributes to good conversations.

However, you should keep in mind that cigars, style and lifestyle are related. The latter is not expressed through sports cars and business bragging, but through a pleasant get-together and a pinch of gentlemanly behavior.

What did you have in mind when you founded a cigar lounge?

My purpose was to create an oasis of well-being. If you enter Don Alejandro's, you leave the hustle far behind. Don Alejandro's is meant to be a place to linger, an island in everyday life. The wide glass facade, the English style interior, the candles in the evening, the terrace in the summer, all this contributes to the enjoyment.

We offer over 150 cigars and selected spirits on 200 square meters of interior and 100 square meters of outdoor area. As for our bar, we have a wide assortment of wines and spirits and what catches the eye the most are the ca. 35 kinds of rum and nearly 40 kinds of whiskey. In addition, Don Alejandro's offers a small assortment of meals. We are already planning a few events, such as visits to a few cigar and rum manufacturers, cigar seminars, cigar rollers and blind-tastings.

'Cigar as Lifestyle' – you proposed this to us as a slogan. What is the notion behind it?

The most important thing about a good cigar is the time that you enjoy having it and the people that you spend this time with. There is no enjoyment without time spent.

A growing number of ladies as well as of gentlemen sit together and chat about the newest discoveries, the new drink, which cigar it matches, the country of origin and personal experiences. The atmosphere is quite positive.

Only rarely can you hear any moaning.

This is why your cigar lounge is a popular place?

Nowadays, stress, availability and 'at once' are constantly with us in everyday life. We are the alternative, which is reflected in relaxation, slowing down, enjoyment and recreation. We have many regular customers, who visit us 3 or 4 times a week to let themselves drift or to calm down after a working day.

What are the worst assumptions of newcomers?

A cigar lounge is not a smoking room for a 5-minute cigarette. Of course, we also welcome cigarette smokers as long as they can identify themselves with the ones enjoying themselves. They are usually newcomers who come with colleagues. That is why we offer intensive guidance to our guests.

That leads to the usual questions about how to. Which cigar matches which drink, this is probably an endless discussion.

After all, this is a very personal matter of taste. The nicest endless discussion as such. As long as everyone wants to share or try their ideas and new discoveries with their friends, it is certainly a topic for a whole evening. To enjoy what one prefers and to try something new. We have regular customers who prefer cognac. Others choose whiskey or rum and sometimes also have a coffee with it.

What do you recommend?

Crafters Aromatic Flower Gin from Estonia with Gents Tonic and Pink Pepper, plus a Placencia Alma Fuerte from Nicaragua

Havana Club Union Rum Cohiba Edition, with a Cuban beauty Cohiba Siglo 6

12 year old Yamazaki single malt whiskey with a pearl from Cuba, the Don Alejandro Robaina

How does the country of origin influence quality?

This depends on the personality, too. It is often about their relation to the country, because one has visited it or made friends there. As for quality, every country is able to present a range of excellent cigars, for sure. For newcomers, the Cuban cigar is the most well-known but not always the best. Cuba also has its weaknesses. However, one can say that, among the passionate cigar lovers, a lover of Cuban cigars sticks with his habits more than others.

Hand-rolled cigars are always a delight. Actually, being hand-rolled is evident of course.

What countries do you offer cigars from?

We offer cigars that we like, may they come from any country: Nicaragua, Honduras, Dominican Republic, Mexico and of course Cuba. There are lighter, creamier variants from all countries, as well as stronger, spicier, richer ones of various characteristics. Even if you are not an expert or a collector, it is certainly worthwhile to try something new time and time again.

This is what our cigar lounge is made for.

Do then also the experts come to you because of the novelties?

Exactly. At first of course because of the pleasant environment and the get-together in our lounge, but also to try something new, before it gets its place in their own humidor. Not only my wife and myself, but also our staff know every cigar and every spirit in our house, and there are always new ones arriving.

When should one buy a humidor?

We advise on and also sell humidors. Many people, however, wishing to combine the delight of the cigar with the delight of the environment, save the cost and come directly to us. A travel humidor is not very expensive. Only if you buy a larger amount of cigars yourself will a humidor be really necessary. Nevertheless, it is also an ornament for every house.

You said collectors. Are cigars collected and stored for years like wine?

In principle cigars are already aged when sold but not to the same extent and not each and every edition like they used to be earlier. Collectors, especially in Switzerland, often buy limited edition cigars which are sold very quickly and are difficult to find later. They age them then in their own humidor rooms.

For example, the Partagas Aniversario 170 was produced in a total quantity of 450 boxes, containing 50 cigars each. It was offered to us for 18,000 CHF. For collectors who buy them early there is even an increase in value with the age of the cigars similar to the case of good wines.

If you would like to invite somebody to your lounge who doesn't know it yet, what would you say?

Come in and experience the pleasure and slowing down. Bring your wife, friend or colleagues with you. Our high-tech air stream management prevents too much smell seeping into your clothes. Enjoy our indoor ambience with English style furniture.

2 years ago, we started with 150 different cigars and have grown the offer constantly. We also do serve club sandwiches and there is a little grill menu if you like. We are always open to support your event at our place as well.

At us the guests are in focus. My wife and I do welcome all our guests personally if possible.

ENJOY THE SUNSHINE AROUND LAGO MAGGIORE THE BRISSAGO ISLANDS AND LOCARNO

Locarno and the surrounding area have the warmest climate in Switzerland with around 2,300 hours of sunshine per year. The Brissago Islands in the lake Lago Maggiore enjoy a subtropical climate and are home of a botanical garden presenting around 1,700 plant species. In the afternoon a private tour guide will take you sightseeing in the city centre of Locarno. You will then take the historical cable car to visit the sanctuary Madonna del Sasso, a famous place of pilgrimage and Ticino's greatest photo-op. # GET UP CLOSE AND PERSONAL WITH ANIMALS AT KNIE'S CHILDREN'S ZOO

Knie's Children's Zoo, aimed particularly at children, belongs to Switzerland's tradition-steeped Knie Circus, and is a popular place for people to encounter animals: ton-heavy Asian elephants, inquisitive African miniature goats, quick-to-learn South American sea lions and agile squirrel monkeys all guarantee a wealth of fascinating experiences.

The interaction between the visitors and the animals is a speciality of this zoo: depending on the species, the animals can be touched, petted, fed or ridden. One can even have a picture taken with the sea lions. The vintage horse-drawn tram, the pirate ship and the adventure playground also offer plenty of fun. # BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF THE ALPS FROM THE COCKPIT OF A FIGHTER JET

Take the chance and enjoy a training flight in the cockpit of a Pilatus PC-7 Turbo Trainer. The aircraft in question served 28 years in the Swiss Air Force. In 2010, when it was decommissioned the Air Force Centre Altenrhein took it over and immatriculated it for civil service.

While you are flying over the Swiss alps, your companions can take the cable car to visit Mount Säntis and even take a picture of you in the plane from the viewing platform on the top. After the flight you will join them on the mountain and have lunch in Panorama Restaurant Säntisgipfel. After lunch we take you back home. Please note that an acrobatic flight requires fit and healthy constitution. As you can discuss with the pilot how much acrobatic action you would prefer, you can reduce the physical stress to the equivalent of an alpine sightseeing only.

The Ballenberg Open-Air Museum houses more than 110 traditional buildings from all parts of Switzerland in beautiful mountain scenery. The old farmhouses, stables or barns were not demolished when they were due to be replaced but were instead dismantled and rebuilt on the grounds of the museum. The historic buildings and their kitchens, chambers and living rooms illustrate rural life in Switzerland. Ballenberg has been brought to life primarily by the original, indigenous plants and crops that are cultivated here and over 250 native livestock species. Traditional handicrafts are kept alive in the workshops: basket-weaving, forging, braiding, spinning, weaving and carving and many more. Visitors are welcome to join the activities. The Swiss Museum of Transport is Europe's most comprehensive museum of mobility. More than 3,000 objects spread over an exhibition area of 20,000 square meters showcase the development of traffic on roads, by rail, on water, in the air and in space. You can also learn about communication methods through a variety of interactive exhibits. Media World, opened in October 2016, presents the multifaceted world of media: amongst other things, visitors can produce their own content in a professional TV studio, practice their directing skills, test the editing suite, and discover the opportunities up-to-the-minute media technologies have to offer. There are two restaurants located in the museum, where you can have lunch. For dinner, we bring you to Restaurant PRISMA in Vitznau, a restaurant with a Michelin star and a panoramic view on Lake Lucerne.
